

Kids2Home choose Xledger as their new financial system

Press Release Jan 2013

Kids2Home are currently expanding their services and have recently decided to establish several new day care centres for children. As part of this expansion they decided that they needed a new business system that would provide improved financial control and follow up on our projects more efficiently.

Per Uppman, Managing Director at Kids2Home says:

"We chose Xledger because we needed a business system that would provide an easy to understand interface since many of our employees work with budget tracking. Xledger offers us an overview of the company's assets and financial situation and saves us time through automated financial processes. Both our accountants and operation managers highlighted Xledger as their first choice of business system. Due to its cloud-based technology, Xledger offered not only a system that needed no installation, but also easy accessibility wherever and whenever it was needed."

Lars Lobelius, Xledger's Country Manager in Sweden says: "Xledger is perfectly suited to companies that are looking to expand their business. It provides a system that helps identify the real needs of the business and that provides all the functions a business might need to continue their growth without having to invest in expensive software licences in advance."

Kids2Home is a privately owned company that provides child day care. Their mission is to "Develop happier families", and their ambition is to improve all aspects of child day care. They achieve this through improved help to parents, happy and flexible staff, their own chefs who provide a better diet and family services such as providing dinner and evening/ weekend child care that gives the family more time.
