

FISCAL Technologies and leading ERP implementation specialist Williams Woodward enter into new partnership

Agreement aimed at helping organisations to protect organisational spend before, during and after ERP implementations.

Reading, UK – 13th March 2017: FISCAL Technologies, the world-leading provider of accounts payable forensic software, has entered into a formal partnership with Williams Woodward, the specialist ERP project management and consultancy firm. The agreement adds to FISCAL's partnership program and strengthens its presence among large and medium-sized organisations.

Williams Woodward Limited is an independent consultancy with a proven track record in providing project management and consulting services for UK and international businesses in a wide variety of market sectors. The consultancy offers clients a wealth of experience and in-depth knowledge gained from many years of implementing business software and managing change across organisations of all sizes. This dovetails appropriately with FISCAL's experience in protecting spend during times of organisational flux.

Andrea Williams, Managing Director of Williams Woodward, said: "This partnership enables Williams Woodward to bring not only best-in-class technology to our clients but also best-in-class protection. AP Forensics® can protect organisations going forward as well as acting as a legacy repository when clients change ERP solutions. In addition, FISCAL enables access to real-time information and KPIs through inbuilt dashboards and widgets, which allows agile customers to make the right decisions quickly and effectively to protect organisational spend from erroneous payments and fraud."

Colin Rigby, Head of Strategic Alliances and Channel at FISCAL, said: "We are delighted that our partnership is now formalised and look forward to working with Williams Woodward and a range of their clients, from public sector to commercial organisations. Partnering with Williams Woodward enables us to expand the breadth of services and solutions that we can offer our clients, especially around data extraction and ERP implementation. This partnership enhances FISCAL Technologies' recently launched Global Partnership evolution."
